What a Year

Mr. Parrish makes 1994 his last year as principal. Mrs. Kem and Mrs. Jacobson retire. Mr. Pricer leaves AHS to experience teaching in a foreign country. Tony Erickson and Kelly Johnston make First Team, All-State. 94 Pints of blood were donated by students and community members during the annual Student Council blood drive. Todd Kinder put on the Fish-O-Thon for his senior project, allowing many kids to catch a fish for the first time. The Port City Singers performed for the guests at the Senior Citizen Luncheon. Josh Dickson was visited by a furry friend (a gorilla with balloons) for his birthday. Kelly Hoffman was the one person from Oregon chosen to go to Washington, D.C. as a prize

Getting Acquainted

Summer is over and its time to get back in the swing of things. This year we have one of the largest freshmen classes so far. There were a lot of new changes made for the freshmen to get off to a good start this year. They went to all of their classes in the evening instead of during the day. Then they had a barbecue for not only the students, but their parents to get to know some of the teachers also. "Starting high school was fun and full of new experiences, it sure beats junior high," says, Brett Brunick

Gathering on the lawn, freshmen and parents got acquainted with the teachers at the barbecue during the freshmen orientation.

Sophomore Daniel Schneider runs quickly with the ball as junior Shannon Morrell runs up sneakily from behind hoping to snatch it away.

The football team had a great year and some of it could be contributed to the enthusiasm the student body had for the team. With a great pep band and musicians like senior Izaak Van Horn, the crowd got pumped.

Brett Brunick tries to pull one over on the photographer by acting like he's working really hard in his freshman transition class.

COMPUTER LAB

Stumped on what she should do next, senior Allison Lyngstad sits and stares at her computer in despair.

Having the computer lab available at school this year has opened a whole new world of opportunities for everyone. "I've found that computers can be used by anyone, and we need to realize that as time progresses they are going to be more and more apart of our lives." says, Allison Lyngstad. The computer lab is open to everyone, and there are a lot of new programs for a lot of different subjects.

Teresa Rush- SEA Club Pres.

"Our goal this year is to influence more people about recycling and to be involved with the environment."

Jenni Clark- French Club

"French Club has made a lot of progress. We're having more meetings and a lot of food."

Ben Corderman- Spanish Club Pres.

"Two of our goals this year are to raise some money to help with our expenses as we travel to Cancun in the spring and to sponsor a little boy in Columbia."

Kerry Stevenson and Brooke Fisher, members of the French Club, help plan activities for an evening party. During the month, the club elected officers and made a yearly outline.

FBLA Studs

Two of the members of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America), Derek Thomas and Doug Sossaman enjoy one of many meetings.

CADENCE

Each class begins the contest with 100 points and for every mistake, there's a demerit. Mr. Flowers was pleased with the outcome, "This years classes maintained the highest bonus points, and seemed to take less time to mesh as uniformed groups." The students enjoyed it and the air echoed with the chant "Sound off, 1-2, sound off, 3-4..."

Finding the height of the school using only angles, Mark Koekemoer and Rebecca Hillgaertner explore the world of physics.

Jeany Potter prims up Brandy Perry for the annual school pictures taken on September 10.

Amy Goin and Amy Morisse try and outstretch each other in order to save the ball from touching the ground. The two Amy's were important people in the team's success this year.

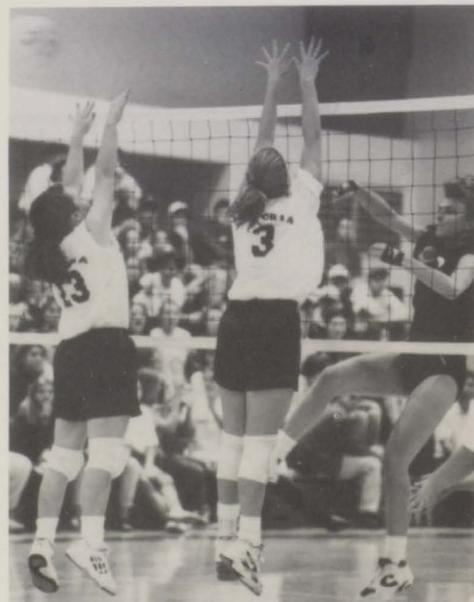

Amy Goin spikes the ball across the net while Heidi Richenbach and Michelle O'Brien stand ready to help. Amy was a key player this season.

The Lady Fisherman get together to discuss ways to beat Scappoose. Despite the great efforts, the team lost.

Michelle O'Brien shows perfect form as she slams the ball, scoring a point for the lady fisherman. The Ladies beat Seaside thanks to efforts like these from Michelle.

Smashing Season

The Astoria Varsity Volleyball team started off the year with a bang and ended up ranked 10th in the state. Starting with the Jamboree losing only to Rainier, and receiving 1st place in the Gladstone Tournament, the Lady Fishermen closed the season with an impressive 23-8 record and 8-4 in league.

Some of the Ladies games were close such as the Seaside game with 3-15, 19-17, 15-13. But the girls charged ahead and ended up victorious against Seaside, as well as many other great teams.

In the Astoria Tournament, the Ladies took 1st place against 8 teams. In the Sherwood Tournament, Astoria brought home 3rd place beating out 5 teams for that honor. But by far is the impressive 3rd place at the St. Helens Tournament against 12 teams. The Lady Fishermen had a great season and it is all summed up by these great words from Amy Morisse. "It was FUN!"

Heidi Rickenbach, Amy Goin, Nicole Rusinovich, Michelle O'Brien Amy Morisse, and Laura Roberts react to the J.V game against Seaside.. Despite the Fishermen's efforts, J.V 's lost in overtime.

SCHOOL PICTURES

September 10

Everybody hates them, but you have to do them anyway. Since the first day we entered school the routine has been the same, "Sit up straight and smile." When asked what he thought of school pictures junior Jon Waisanen replied by saying, "Everyone always gets dressed up and think they look so good and then when they come back you find out you don't look so good afterall." Never the less, mom once again ordered every 3/5, 5/7, and 8/10 to give to every aunt, uncle, and cousin you've got.

Wishing that the photographer would hurry, senior Tiffany Hugo smiles and waits for him to snap the picture.

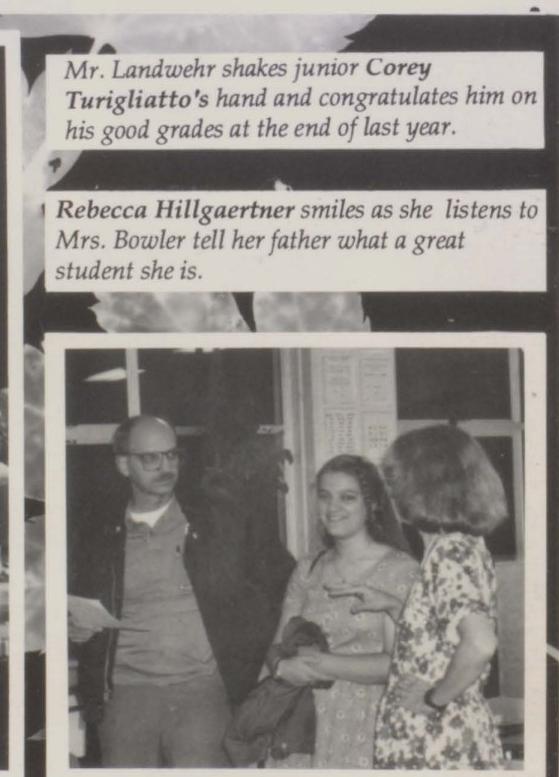

Senior Amy Morisse gets pumped up during the introductions before the varsity girls volleyball game. The game, the last of the season, was played at home November 1 against Tillamook.

SPECIAL AWARDS NIGHT

"I'm proud to present this award to ..." said Mr. Parrish as he handed out one of the over 75 awards to the students that had outstanding grades last Spring. The awards night, held shortly after school began, was followed by an open house for parents and students to meet with the teachers. When asked what she thought about the night, junior Angela Porter replied by saying, "It was my first open house and I was a little surprised at how many people showed up."

Mr. Landwehr shakes junior Corey Turigliatto's hand and congratulates him on his good grades at the end of last year.

Rebecca Hillgaertner smiles as she listens to Mrs. Bowler tell her father what a great student she is.

Junior Robin Ross concentrates on the computer screen, in Spanish, thinking of how to complete the sentence correctly.

Senior Dominic Rusinovich, with the help of junior Penni Aiken, is carefully combining chemicals in his chemistry class.

EGG STEALERS

Once again as the school year began, the Aquaculture 1&2 classes headed out to Westport to spawn salmon. The students gathered the eggs and brought them to the school to raise them during the school year in the AHS hatchery.

With John Ford standing by ready to help, junior Jon Waisanen attempts to catch a fish.

C.G. DEFEATED

September 27.

The game against The Catlin Gabel Eagles was one of the most uplifting matches of the season for the varsity Soccer team. Accomplishing what had never been done before, Coach Max Bigby was quoted to have said, "The kids were pumped. They knew they hadn't scored against Catlin Gabel ever, much less won." That changed during this game. The Fishermen beat the No. 4 state ranked Eagles in a outstanding 4-0 game.

Sophomore Alex Zemetkin is trying to keep his balance and at the same time getting the ball away from the feet of two Eagle players.

After running 5,000 meters Nathan Andres finished districts at Camp Rilea Oct. 28, 1993 with a very tired look on his face.

CROSS COUNTRY

Even though the lake course is a difficult challenge, senior Katrinka Jackson still has a smile in her face as she approaches the finish line.

Defending a state championship, this years' boys cross country team had to live up to some high expectations.

The one ongoing aspect this team had was team spirit, along with enthusiasm and support. The boys' team placed 4th in regular season and 3rd at districts. Senior Dusty Atwood was definitely the leader throughout the season and qualified to run at state. To say the most, the strength of the boys and girls team was the desire to improve. This years girls cross country team took 2nd place in the Cowapa League. Senior Erron Hanley was the backbone throughout the season. She took 2nd at districts and 9th at state. With as much team spirit and support as the boys ,this team was greatly improving as the season progressed.

"We had a good, hard-working year, plus we tried some different types of meets. I feel that the kids really felt good about their efforts."

Mr. Dominey

Junior Elain Mitchell took second place that day at Coffenbury Lake, as AHS took the victory over Scappoose.

Close Finish

Junior Carrie Holyoak crosses the finish line first at J.V. cross country districts. The districts were held at Camp Rilea this year. The girls couldn't place because they didn't have a complete team, nonetheless they did very well. "The race was a good way to finish out the season. Both teams, J.V. and varsity did great. We had a good season," said Carrie Holyoak.

Manon de la source

OCTOBER 12

The French Club got off to a great start this year with ice cream and a good movie. The club met in the home-ec room and watched Manon de la Source. "It was a really good movie, and it was really fun trying to watch it with subtitles," said Brooke Fisher who is in French Two. They also made ice cream floats and sundaes. It was a très bon evening.

Senior Grant Youngren shows off his big catch of the day. He caught the fish while on a Aquaculture field trip.

ASVAB; NOT JUST ANOTHER TEST

Sophomore Joey Sumerlin grins proudly as he shows off the candy he has to sell for Spanish.

Junior Kelly and senior Amy Hoffman finish up their homework before class starts. The Hoffman sisters moved here this summer from Loomis, CA.

Every semester the juniors in careers class must take the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery, or ASVAB. The test is designed to assist students to find their natural abilities in certain areas ranging from electronics to sciences. Teona Dawson puts it best, "I went in to take the test and I was really nervous, but as I read it, it was pretty straight forward. It was actually interesting to see my results and to know what I am best at."

Fishermen Pride

Homecoming

October 24 -30

With the theme of "Fishermen Pride" for the 1993 Homecoming week, school spirit was most definitely at its peak. Classes worked together to create outstanding decorations for their assigned hallways and Wednesday, class unity day, was a huge success with the seniors dressing to the theme of Halloween, juniors all backwards, sophmores white with shades, and freshmen flannels. To top off the day, classes went head to head competing in wacky games which included, tug-of-war, steam roller, toe jam, and the egg drop during the traditional Olympics.

Monday night the juniors overwhelmed not only the crowd but also the seniors with their quickness, determination, and a little help from their star quarterback, Kelly Johnston, leading the seniors to their 4 year loosing sweep, as the freshmen and sophmores called it a tie game. At school that day the homecoming court was presented during an A.M. assembly and the student body dressed up in nice clothing for the occasion.

Tuesday there was an extended lunch period for the court luncheon where the court participated in embarrassing games and Thursday some dressed up for Halloween and enjoyed live music by AHS bands at lunch. That night the juniors dominated once again in meatball volleyball, but the seniors came back to tie for First place overall with their purple and gold attire and school spirit, during Fridays pep assembly.

The Homecoming game Friday night ended with yet another big win, 26-6, over Scappoose for a record of 8-0. The Homecoming queen, Meghan Lavis, was announced at half-time as the senior court waited anxiously by their cars to see who had the purple helium filled balloons rise out of the trunk of their car.

Last but not least, the dance Saturday night with the theme "Paradise", brought to many lots of lasting memories for the Homecoming week of 1993!!!

"I really enjoyed homecoming week.....school spirit is definitely back!! (Way to go seniors)."

-Meghan Lavis

"Homecoming was an experience, it was fast, fun, and furious!!

-Lane Hartil

Seniors Meghan Lavis and Lane Hartil were crowned queen and king for the 1993 homecoming week.

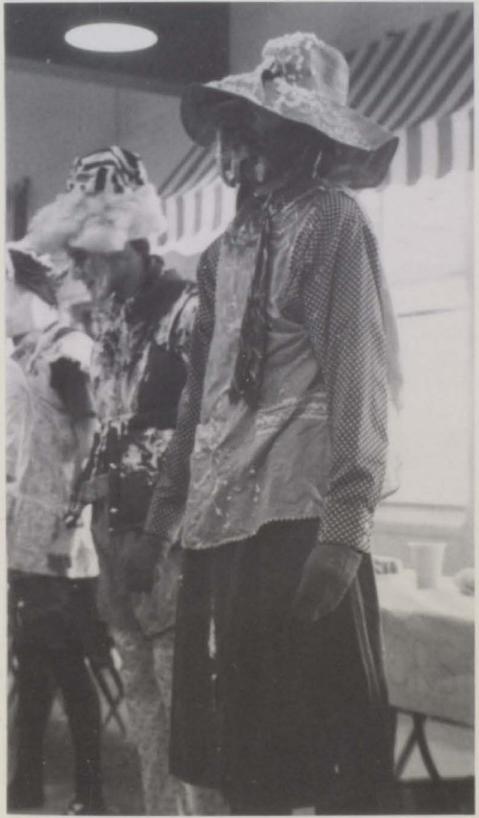

Showing their spirit for class unity day, seniors Erron Hanley, Meghan Lavis, Lisa McMurrick, Stacey Williams, Amy Morisse, Magnolia Waddell, Llama Taylor, and Denise Miner, went all out and dressed according to a Halloween theme in black and orange.

Trying to not be overcome by humiliation, the homecoming court was presented as their most embarrassing moments were exposed to the school.

Trying for a touchdown during Monday's night Powder Puff game, sophomore Gina Orlando, unsuccessfully passes by the last freshmen. The Sophmores and freshmen had a tie game.

Participating in the "dress up" game as part of the court luncheon, senior homecoming king Lane Hartill, finished in first place with the loudest applause from the crowd.

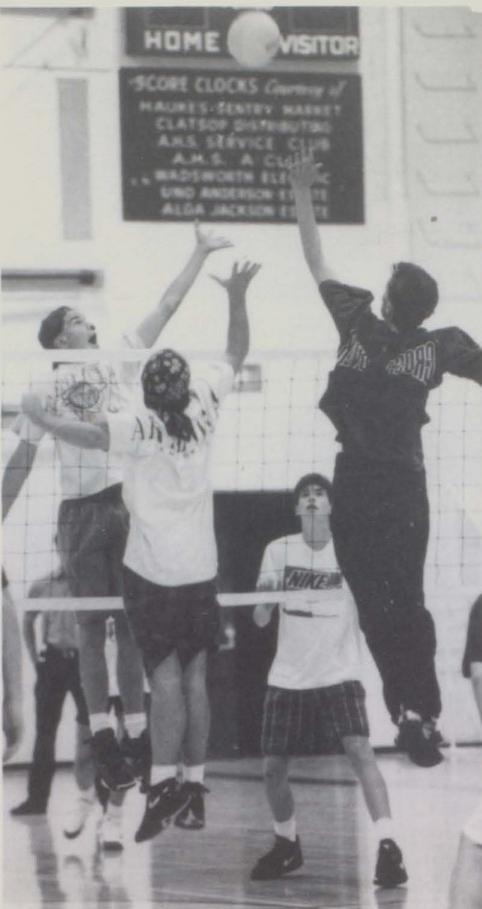

Feeling their newly inflated chests, sophomores Jason Carter and Josh Dickson watch from the sidelines as their class attempts to "Squash the Frosh" during the Powder Puff game.

Hitting the floor seniors Mario Alfonse, Misty Ingram, Gretchen Richardson, Adrian Birdeno, Denise Miner, and Ryan Davis volunteer to become a human steamroller in an attempt to take home the trophy.

Reaching for the stars, sophomore Adam Dean and juniors Ryan Tarabochia and Mike Hawkins go for the gold.

Finding humor in the situation, senior princess Laura Roberts shares a laugh with her driver as her car is pushed onto the field.

Charging onto the field,
the Varsity team is ready for the second half.

Senior Andrew

Junior Joey Scoggins is caught in mid-twang during the Pundit concert for the AHS student body. Joey can play his bass for you, is it luck?

After an Olympic event senior Meghan Lavis exclaims, "Help me! I've been egged and I can't get it off!"

What did you like most about Homecoming?

"I liked the school spirit and enthusiasm!"

-Samantha Brunick

"What is this B.S. about tieing with the juniors?"

-Amy Morisse

"Pundit wailed; they're cool."

-Kai Vedenoga and Izaak Van Horn

"The senior class finally had some spirit! And we made a school record, we lost Powder Puff all 4 years!"

-Llama Taylor

During the Meatball volleyball match against the Seniors, junior Todd Jenkins successfully passes the ball over the net. The juniors ended with a 2-1 win over the Seniors.

Standing on the sidelines, powder puff coach Stephen Person, gives direction to his team. The juniors won the game against the seniors, leading the seniors to their 4 year loosing sweep.

Attempting to compete with the over-powering senior spirit, the sophomores weak banner doesn't even compare to all the hard work the seniors put into theirs.

Getting into the groove during the pep assembly for Friday nights football game, freshmen Justin Elfering boogies to the beat of "On Top of Old Spaghetti."

Letting the underclassmen know who's the best, the seniors sum it up with one sign, "Senior Sweep." The seniors swept all the classes to tie as the champions for Homecoming weeek.

STRESS

With deadlines upon many, the stress level for most high schoolers is rising. The end of the nine weeks is almost over. The photo room is overflowing with those "last minute students," and the library is buzzing with students hurrying to finish their report before the deadline to get full credit. Cramming for the last test of the quarter, many students stay up late and drag themselves around school in their baggy clothes.

For most, the famous saying "I won't let myself get behind next quarter," is soon forgotten by the semester.

At the pep assembly before the big Homecoming games, a few select sophomores were chosen to lip sync to the tune of "Rock around the Clock." The sophomores placed second, and the seniors were first.

ARM IN ARM

OCTOBER 7

With the football team facing the biggest game of the year against number one St. Helens, a pep assembly was in order. "If you liked what we did to Seaside last week, you're going to love what we're going to do to St. Helens tonight," promised Coach Andrea to the energized student body.

COMING TO AMERICA

For their first time in America, 11 German students from Waldorf and their two advisors spent one week in the exotic town of Astoria. During their stay they visited many historical sights in Oregon, as well as the historical sights in Astoria. "They were very pleased with what they saw and had a very enjoyable time. It was educationally important for us as well as them to see how other cultures function," explains Mr. Foster.

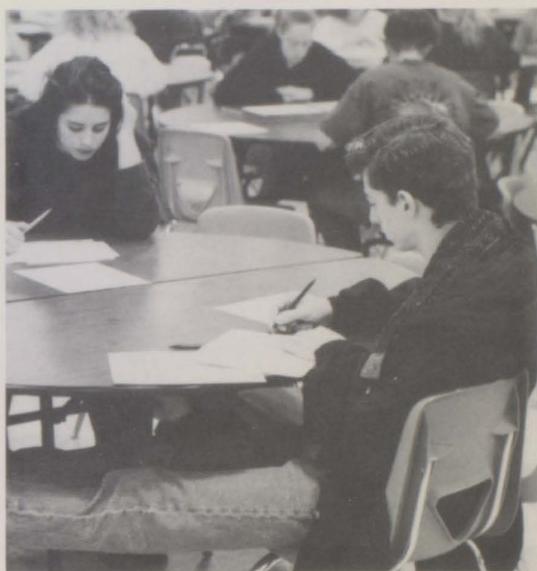

Aside from making many new friends and having splendid times with their host families, the Germans experienced the exciting fun filled week of Homecoming.

PRE-SATS

Crumb is to bread, as ___ is to wood. Mind boggling questions like this tested individuals skill level were given on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

A variety of students ranging from all ages gathered in the library to experience the SAT which is required for most seniors who are planning to attend state colleges and universities.

"It was the hardest test I've ever taken," said junior Rachelle Tuveng. "The verbals were very hard."

Singing the Alma Mater at the first pep assembly of the year, seniors Ann Marie Lane, and Katrinka Jackson were some of the few that stayed for the school song.

In a relaxed position, sophomore Gabriel White concentrates on the National Standardized test offered to under classmen.

On their last night in Astoria, the exchange students from Germany gathered in the library to say their goodbyes and of course show their gratitude, "DANKE!"

OCT

During a P.M. pep assembly on October 29, alumni faculty members were honored. Student Council members presented them with AHS boxers and towels, which Mr. Goin proudly showed off to the student body!

Taming The Lions

OCTOBER 7

Ryan Tarabochia and Jeff Sully join the rest of the team in celebrating their "butt-kickin'".

Fighting to make it to State for the first time in 14 years, the Fishermen moved up to No. 2 in the polls, after smashing No. 1 ranked St. Helens, in a 50-6 victory. Senior Todd Kinder led the way with 91 yds. passing, 53 yds. rushing, and 3 TD's. Junior Ryan Tarabochia added 3 more TD's to the night, with 140 rushing yds. and caught 4 passes for another 48 yds. Defensive tackles Jeff Sully, Matt Cvitanovich, and noseguard Andy Rasmussen played key roles in shutting down St. Helens's offense. All in all, the team played great. As the coach of the Lions said, "That was an old fashioned butt-kickin' there."

Who's Your Dream Date?

Darren Daulton and I would land in Veterans Stadium in a hot air balloon, enjoy a romantic dinner on home plate, and then have a long intimate catching practice!

-Stacey Burgher

I would take Garfunkel, and together we would hitchhike around the world!

-Cindy Shatto

I'd take Shannon Doherty out to a Beverly Hills night club and watch her get her __ kicked!

-Stephen Person

Jeff Sully . . . , the Nova . . . , What more could we ask for?

-Heather Ficken & Lisa McMurrick

Niki Taylor and I would go on a cruise to Jamaica, where we'd spend our days baking in the hot sun, and our nights cooling each other off in a natural spring.

-Kai Vedenoga

League Champions

It had been 21 years since the Astoria Fishermen had been to the playoffs. That all changed this year when the team went 7-1 in league to become league champions and a chance to go to the state playoffs. The Fishermen came up short in their first playoff game against Baker that crushed any chances at becoming champions. Other than Astoria's losses to Rainier and Baker, they had a great season smashing anybody who got in their path. One of their biggest stomping's was on the night when

St. Helens came to Astoria and went home with a 50-6 defeat on their record. Other big wins for Astoria was the 48-13 win over Clatskanie, a 13-0 win over Tillamook and a 21-14 win over Seaside.

Looking back, coach Robin Andrea said that "beating St. Helens by such a big margin and coming from behind to beat Sherwood and Seaside were the real highlights of the season." It was a season of great memories and for Astoria football, the playoff jinx has ended.

One of the reasons for the teams offensive success was the lines great blocking ability to give the back field plenty of opportunities.

A COLD FINISH

It was a long road trip. For the first time in over 20 years the football team had made it to the state playoffs and like the cold wind that was blowing through the Baker City stadium, the fire inside each one of the determined Fishermen was frozen.

Turnovers and bone-chilling temperatures proved to be too much as the Baker Bulldogs thumped the Fishermen 28-6. "We did not anticipate a chill factor of minus 10 degrees," commented Coach Andrea, "the kid's were shivering in the huddle."

Throughout the regular season, foot speed was the difference for the team, throw in some snow and ice, and that was gone in a flurry. "It was nearly impossible for us to hang on to that ball when it was as frozen as it was," said Coach Hoff, "the elements were the difference in the two teams, They had heaters and we didn't." Regardless of the game outcome, it still was a season that will be remembered for a long time.

Shooting for the goal, senior Jason Bigby attempts to score for the Fishermen in the win over Catlin Gable.

Though this season did not go quite as we had planned, no one can argue that it was a memorable one. For the most part, the season was flawless. We won game after game and were ranked in the top ten by The Associated Press more often than not.

And when we played well, we really played well. For instance, the game against Catlin Gabel early in the season. Not only did we defeat the Eagles for the first time ever, but we shut them out 4-0. It was definitely memorable.

Coincidentally, our next unforgettable game was with Catlin Gabel, as well.

Keeping the Indians from scoring, seniors Nick Zametkin and Tim Duey double team their Scappoose opponent during the playoff game to determine which team would go on to state

"It was the season that I felt I played my best."

A miracle goal by Jeremy Snow in literally the last second of the game saved our district position--and our play-off spot--when we tied the Eagles 1-1.

Unfortunately, we lost to P.C. in the play-offs and ended our season a little earlier than we'd planned.

Peter Ettro and Tim Duey were named the MVPs, and Jason Bigby and Peter Schauermann were voted most inspirational.

Thanks again to the team and Max for an unforgettable season. I wish it didn't have to end.

COLLEGE FAIR

OCTOBER 15

Many Astoria High School students attended a college fair at the convention center in Portland. A variety of colleges were represented and gave students an idea of what the individual schools were like. "You got to meet a diversity of people," Steve Moore, a senior who attended the fair commented. The college fair proved to be an educational experience for those who were planning on going to college.

Pondering what college he should attend, Joey Scoggins discusses the subject with friends.

DATING GAME

OCTOBER 12

When the relationships class was given a poster assignment, they came up with 101 different ideas for "What to do on a date." Part of a project on dating, the classes brainstormed some activities that may be a little out of the ordinary. "It's nice to think of fun things to do that will provide safe and legal dating activities," commented Ms. Moss. "The students did a good job."

- 1. Go to a football game.
- 2. Go to the lake.
- 3. Play baseball
- 4. Battery Russel
- 5. Go to the jetty.
- 6. Cruise around.

- 23. Eat at the column.
- 24. Go horseback riding.
- 25. Get matching tatoos.

During the morning break, Steve Moore waves a happy hello.

"CHEER OFF"

October 8

Astoria's varsity winter rally competed at their first competition at Springfield High School's second annual "Cheer Off". The squad competed against 37 teams from around the state and came in sixth. This is extremely well considering it was their first time competing. The whole team had a great time and enjoyed the experience.

Halloween Hits A.H.S.

Halloween, one of the most exciting and festive holidays celebrated. On this day, it is traditional to dress in costume. Some of these costumes can be very unusual. Here is a list of the ten best seen throughout this Halloween season.

Putting it All on the Line

Hard Worker

Chris Clifford poses to have his picture taken while working at the new Lamont's store in Warrenton. The FBLA members from AHS all worked at the new store to help raise money for their expenditures. The FBLA will go to competition later this year and compete with other members from around Oregon.

The Astoria Fishermen experienced defeat, finally. Going to Rainier with a perfect 8-0 record, the Fishermen had a heart-breaking game, losing 12-13.

Fighting fog and unseasonably cold weather, the team ran into a determined Rainier team that used ball control to keep the offense off the field.

With twelve seconds left on the clock, the AHS squad drove down to the three yard line. In what turned out to be the biggest play of the season, senior Lane Hartill's field goal attempt was blocked.

"We were killed by the big plays" said junior Zach Hiatt, summing up the game.

Cheerleader Crystal Sullivan concentrates as she pumps up the student body at a pep assembly.

Varsity Rally, Fall

The Rally scream along with the crowd as the football team scores another point against St. Helens, winning the game 50-6.

RALLY SPIRIT PROMOTING ENTHUSIASM IS THE TEAMS OBJECTIVE

DEDICATION. That's the word that best describes the fall Rally Squad of AHS. Starting in the summer months, the Rally went to camp and then competed in the Regatta Parade, taking 2nd place.

Then came football season. Leading the spirited crowd through cheers is not the only job the team had. Practicing, practicing and practicing some more was a job, as well as promoting and cheering on all the sports teams throughout the fall season. Making posters, flyers and giving gifts were only a few of the things the girls did to make AHS a little more spirited.

The team also came up with some innovative games to play at pep assemblies. Making the school laugh was something the squad tried to do to put everyone into the winning mood. Giving their time and their talents, the four members put together a rally team that made a name for themselves, dedicated.

First French

Mrs Bowler's advanced French students spent every Tuesday for six weeks at Gray School. The class taught first and second graders about the French language and culture. The curriculum included counting to five, animal names, proper etiquette, Christmas terms, and basic French words.

Everyone enjoyed the time spent teaching the elementary kids. As senior Dave Hudson put it, "It was a blast!"

Instructing her group of students, Angela Porter keeps them concentrating on the lesson of the day which focused on coloring animals.

Flashing a green card in front of second-graders, Sandrine Marsily patiently teaches them the French words for the colors of the rainbow.

Earth Pops

Beginning in November, the SEA Club (Students for Environmental Awareness) sold Earth Pops to raise money. Beatrice Woods and Carrie Holyoak use their persuasive skills to sell them to the school.

Here are a few of the most infamous kiss-up lines heard at AHS.

"I love your tie, sir!"

"Have you been working out lately, ma'am?"

"You look exceptionally gorgeous today-- seriously."

"Did I ever tell you you're my favorite teacher?"

Exploring Discrimination

November 16 and 30

AHS students from Mrs. Hale's English classes and Mrs. Bowler's German classes spent a day at the Anne Frank community exhibit in Astoria.

Several guest speakers visited including Fred Zurcher, an American liberator, who told his story to German students. The students also got a chance to view "Dear Kitty", an award winning video based on Anne Frank's diary. Hopefully, the experience will teach students about horrors in our past.

Raising funds for FBLA, Monica Wirkkala and Doug Sossaman hand out balloons at Lamont's opening weekend.

Reading samples of prejudice publications, Eric Wagner and Joe Muehlhauser see that hate groups still exist.

Listening to an informative speaker, German students get a detailed view of the exhibit.

Taking time out for the camera, Mr. Schlieski gives Nolan White a few tips on his algebra test.

Despite that there were only four returning staff members, the 1993-1994 Astor Post was very successful. The Journalism I class members added much needed elements to the paper, their writing talent making up for their lack of experience. The four senior returnees handled not only laying out the paper, but also writing many of the stories involved, the three lady editors making an especially large contribution. And, of course, they could not have done any of it without their irreplaceable advisor, Mr. Weeks. He deserves a special thank-you for all of the time--and patience--spent throughout the year.

Enjoying the final product, Astor Post senior editors Maija Osterholme and Jody Gallino laugh at their little mistakes.

Hundreds of students came out on November 20 to the county fair grounds to celebrate in the traditional Sadies way. Donning strawhats and plaid shirts couples twirled across the floor and quenched their thirst with hot chocolate.

Put on by Pizzaz, the yearly dance is a chance for students to go to a dance dressed up, only not in taffeta. "Dancing in jeans is a lot more fun than in velvet!", said junior Rachelle Tuveng. Once again Sadie Hawkins proved to be a great success.

Student Council

The 1993-94 student council had an eventful year. Supervised by Mrs. Schielski, the elected student body officers were Bill Miner, president; Erron Hanley, vice-president; Lane Hartill, secretary; Meghan Lavis, treasurer; Steve Moore, parliamentarian; Heather Ficken, business manager; Melissa Shepherd, member-at-large who is in charge of room reps. ASB accomplished many things this year. They sponsored the Homecoming dance, raised approximately $1500 for Doernbecher's Childrens Hospital, changed the election pro-ccedures, and established guidelines for the use of a breathilizer. In December, the student council invited senior citizens to a luncheon in the cafeteria. The annual blood drive went well. They had an abundance of helpers and 110 donors. They surpassed their goal of 90 pints by four pints. Great job to all officers.

WEAVING THE TALES FOR YOUNG READERS

Throughout the month of December, as everyone prepared for the holidays. Members of Astoria High's A.S.A.P. group (ASTORIA STUDENT ASSISTANCE PROGRAM) headed for the grade schools around Astoria to read children's books.

Junior Angela Porter summed up the whole point of the program. She said, "It's worthwhile for us to see the little kids faces light up when you walk in the room. I wish they had a program like this when I was that age."

As three little girls look on, sophomore Chandra Koons reads a classic tale while classmate Kizzie Abing waits her turn.

ART CLASSES DECORATE FOR HOLIDAYS

With the holiday season right around the corner, Ms. Kem's art classes worked hard to decorate the school for the holiday season. Thanks to the art classes of Astoria High, our school was decked out in jolly colors and festive murals. Not only is this an opportunity for students to show their talents but to show a little holiday spirit also!

SENIOR LUNCHEON

One of the biggest events of December was the annual Senior Citizens Luncheon, put on by the A.H.S. student council. The council shared plenty of great food, lively conversations and lasting memories with some of the senior citizens from around town. Members of the A.H.S. cafeteria staff graciously prepared the food for the event. Students and seniors alike enjoyed the friendly environment of the luncheon. As junior Curtis Oja put it "We enjoyed them, they enjoy us, so every year we all have fun!"

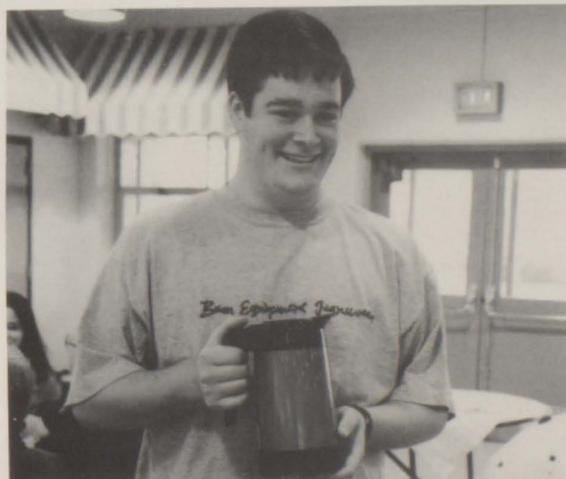

The purpose of the luncheon is to help narrow the gap between the seniors and the high school students around the community. The luncheon helps each of the two social groups to understand the other. This is especially important during the holiday season when many people are lonely. As many student council members learned, a kind word and a friendly smile are sometimes the greatest gift a person can give during the holidays. According to senior Steven Moore, "The gratification I receive from brightening their day is far greater than any gift I ever received this holiday season."

Both Boys and Girls basketball teams came out with unblemished records in the Christmas tournament. The lopsided victories came from the tenacious defense and potent offense. In the picture to the right, Adrian Birdeno goes up for a layup in a 60-48 win over the Elmira Falcons. In the championship game the Fishermen boys beat the Knappa Loggers 63-43. "My undies are better than yours!" exclaims senior Meghan Lavis.

Open your mouth and shut your eyes, senior Tim Duey already got his surprise.

December

A crisp ponderance of birth, stability, and repentance will bring this season to its start

Though in all reality, it had already begun
Many decades ago, a virgin brought life to unconditional love

Along with charity, a holy feeling begins that can only be described as just that Unconditional love!

These thirty-one brisk winter days bring this to mind.

The thought of December fills the world with a spirit that flows with this emotion.

Though the birth of the prince of peace is not the only reason people feel this.

A remembrance of the miracle of miracles is in our minds. Which brings a savior of sorts to our heart.

Charity is in the air.

Christmas is near and the warmth of love which can light many candles will soon start.

At the top of the key, sophomore Derek Osterholme takes a shot.

With his great ball control, senior Adrian Birdeno squeeks past his Knappa opponent.

Blessed with quickness, senior speedster Jeremy Wedell could bolt past almost anyone.

Grabbing a rebound, senior Ryan Davis pulls the ball into his control over his Scappoose opponent.

Using his agility and speed, senior guard Todd Kinder drives past his defender.

Cowapa league champions

Defense and hard work help to put it all together

Everyone expected it to happen but nobody really thought that it would be as difficult as it was. Repeating the successes of last years team was a challenge that had to be addressed every time the squad took to the court. But this scrappy bunch that returned four of it's starting five, was up to the task and with the exception of one game, ran over the rest of the league on their way to capturing the Cowapa league crown.

Defense proved to be the weapon that kept the Fishermen ahead of the rest of the pack. "There is no question that this was the best defensive team I've ever coached," coach Mike Goin commented. During league play the hustling team shut down their opponents to less than 50 points per game. Senior guard Todd

"The more they had to prove, the better they played." - Coach Goin

Kinder explained, "we aren't the best offensive players so we knew that we had to play good defense to win." The intensity and focus paid off night after night as the victories added up.

Highlighting the season were some big games that kept the league race hot to the finish. "Looking back, the win at St.

Helens was a turning point for us," reflected coach Goin. Some great three point shooting by Zach Hiatt built the momentum that pushed the team ahead from a 12 point fourth quarter deficit.

Hard work and confidence was the difference for this great team. Summing up his feelings for the season, junior Zach Hiatt put the experience in perspective, "You play harder when there is more on the line."

Leading the Blind

Expanding "Life's Little Instruction Book", students in Mr. Flower's Sociology class were taught responsibility. They adopted "egg babies" for a week and had to bring them wherever they went. They were held accountable for the welfare of their eggs and points were taken away for loss or abduction.

Another project taught students what it was like to trust and depend on others. The students were blindfolded and led around by other students.

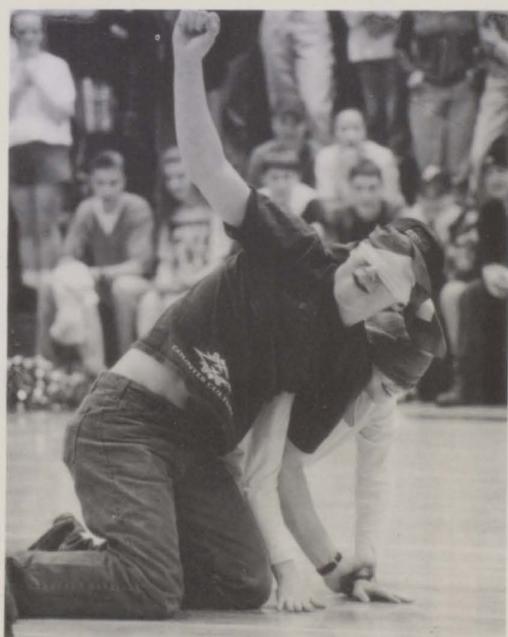

These experiences, however strange they may seem, taught valuable lessons about dependency and responsibility.

Senior Jeremy "The Gambler" Snow attempts to tell a story about his automobile in German.

In the middle of the action, senior Cecilia Stowell fights for possession.

Raising his hand in victory, senior Manny Goza used his mating calls to seek out his mate, Maija Osterhome, and win the pep assembly event.

Some find it humorous as the choir belts out a number.

Pondering what to draw, sophomore Jennifer Finzer poised her pencil in case something comes to mind.

A Record Breaking Season

With high expectations for a successful season, the Lady Fishermen exceeded many of their highest goals. The 1993-94 season brought many surprising first time events for the ladies. It was the first time they had ever gone through league play undefeated. They also reached a high score against the host Indians. They finished league play with a record.

Experiencing a such as Rachel Amy Goins knee injury were able to pull together and come on strong. Playing the style of basketball that forced their opponents into committing turnovers, quickness was a key ingredient for their swarming defense.

With All league selections, Kelli Johnston, Meghan Lavis, and Amy Goin, the team was sure to come out on top. Amy Goin, who moved inside this season because of the lack of post players, picked up her game and helped the team stay tough from the inside as well as the outside.

Also representing the Cowapa League at the state tournament with the Lady Fishermen were the Clatskanie Tigers. Astoria won the seeding game against Clatskanie 63-42 that was held in Astoria which put them in the first seed bracket at the state tournament.

Stretching above the rest, Angie Fisher pulls down an important board. Angie's rebounding abilities were a great factor this season.

Moving her feet on defense, junior post Amy Goin attempts to stop the Scappoose Indian.

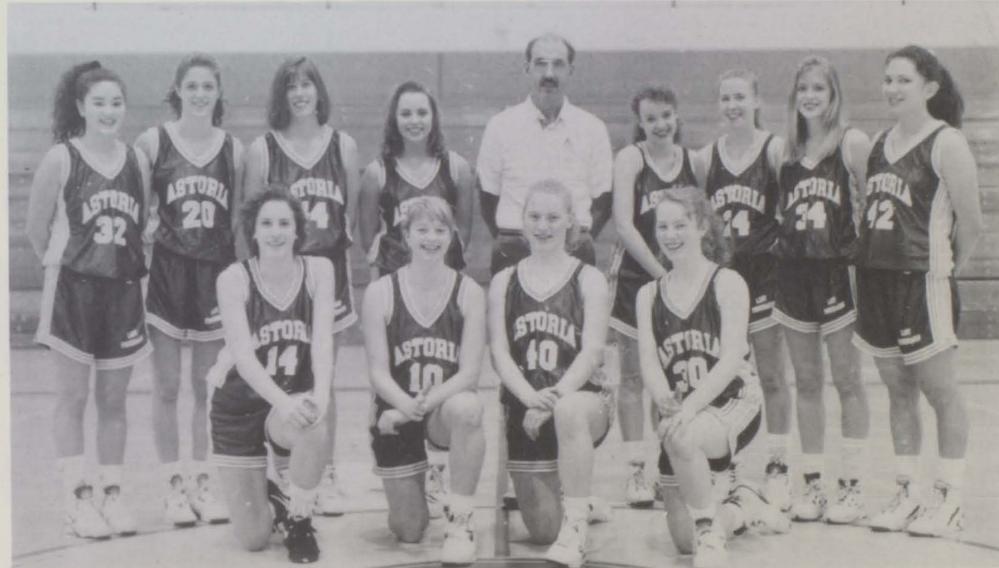

Showing her aggressiveness, Cecilia Stowell battles the tough Clatskanie Tigers to move inside for another two.

Pressing the ball up the floor Kelli Johnston gets passed the Seaside defender while junior, Nicole Rusinovich fills the lane. Kelli's talented ball handling skills were a great asset to the team this season. She is simply amazing!

Foreign Exchange Students

Sandrine Marsilj

Hometown:
Ajaccio, Corsica, France

Age: 18

Sandrine has found that for her, the main difference between Astoria and her hometown in France is the high school. She says that school here is so fun and it offers her a chance to take classes not offered back home. Sandrine also has had the opportunity to work in a radio station. Sandrine likes everything about being here except for two things. She can't drive because she is not a citizen and she has discovered that there are many prejudices about foreign people. There are a lot of places Sandrine has been including: Turkey, Italy, California, and Detroit, but she would like to go surfing in Australia. She has met many people and says, "It is fantastic to be a foreign exchange student!"

Soren Rahbek
"Denmark"

Hometown:
Herning, Denmark

Age: 17

By living here, Denmark has had the chance to meet Americans and learn the traditions, language, and beliefs. Denmark likes all his friends he has made and the nights they have shared like head-banging in the back of Corey's car. He also likes the McDonald's cheeseburger value meal, shows such as Roseanne, and Monday Night Football. Among his dislikes are the school food, the conservative attitude some people have, and he misses having his dog around. Denmark has visited places around Oregon and Washington but still wants to see Disneyland, Seaworld, and Universal Studios. He is enjoying his stay and says, "Thanks to everybody, I've been a really happy exchange student."

Eun Sung Lim

Hometown:
Seoul, Korea

Age: 16

Staying with a friend of her mother's, Eun says the biggest differences between here and Seoul is the language and that Astoria is too quiet. Eun likes many things about being here. She can sleep anytime she wants to. Unlike in Korean schools, she can grow her hair out, and wear earrings, rings, and necklaces. She also enjoys learning about the culture of America. The difficult part about staying here is that she misses her family. So far, she has seen Portland and would like to see California and Hawaii. Although Eun has met many nice people here, she says that some people are cold and look at her strangely.

Cynthia Hungria

Hometown:
Stapetininga, Brazil

Age: 16

One of Cynthia's biggest complaints about Astoria is that there is very little activity on weekends. Other than that, she is enjoying the differences between Brazil and the U.S. She has had the opportunity to see snow for the first time, attend a Janet Jackson concert, take classes that aren't offered at her old school, and to learn English very well. Cynthia says the food here is really different than what she is used to in Brazil. After seeing Seaside and Portland, she still wants to go to Seattle. Cynthia likes the chance to meet new people that she couldn't have met otherwise and feels welcome here among all her new friends. She says, "Everybody here is very nice."

Kerry Stevenson practices the kick line while flashing her pearly whites. The dance team practices consistently from June until March and try-outs are held in April.

Steppin' out on the Right Foot

Putting their best foot forward, 18 ladies tried out for the Dance Team last April and out of the 15 chosen, 5 candidates tried out for captain. Greta Josephson was elected captain, Katrinka Jackson co-captain, and Rachelle Tuveng line-captain. Starting up in June, Pizazz attended the U.S.A. Dance Camp and then spent the rest of the summer practicing. All of a sudden, after garage and pizza sales, came FOOTBALL!

Dancing at half-time led the team into December where Pizazz took First place at Santiam High School as well as the Inspection award. The team was also asked, for the third year in a row, to dance during half-time at a Portland Trailblazers game. On January 29, the team hosted the 2nd Annual Astoria Dance Competition where nine teams competed. In February, Pizazz took First place at Woodburn High as well as Inspection.

The beginning of March brought the Mt. View Competition where, once again, Pizazz took First place. Two weeks later, on March 18, after hundreds of hours of practice, and A LOT of music and choreography changes, Pizazz ventured off to E. Chiles Center at the U. of P for the State Competition. Taking Fourth Place out of 16 teams, Pizazz also got the Inspection award, earning a 9.7 out of 10! Katrinka Jackson and LaReina Schaffer were selected to the All State Team, while Greta Jospheson won Fifth in Drill Down and Katrinka Jackson won First. Katrinka Jackson was also awarded 1 of 2 dance scholarships and also 1 of 5 academic scholarships. The entire team gave an energetic and heart-felt performance at state and was a wonderful representative of Astoria High.

Competition with Pizazz

JANUARY 29

On, January 29, the Astoria high school dance team Pizazz held their 2nd annual dance/drill competition. The competition was held at the high school gym and consisted of ten teams. These teams included: Gresham, Cleveland, Tualatin, Barlow, Wilson, St. Helens, Central, Franklin, and Lincoln. Warrenton and Tillamook did exhibitions along with the Pizazz captains. "It was a lot of fun," three year member Jeri Greenberg commented. "It gave the team a chance to meet dancers from other schools."

The results of the competition were, in the large division, second place: Barlow and first place: Cleveland. In the small division: third place: St. Helens, second place: Franklin, and first place: Lincoln.

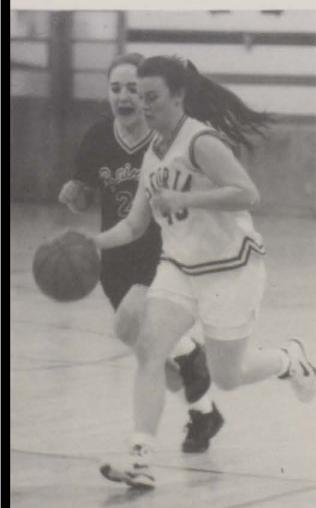

Bringing the ball down court, Sophomore Lyndsey Wirth sophomore Sydney Van Dusen drives to the basket during a fast break in the win over St. Helens.

A Big Splash

On February 11-12, 1994, the AHS swimteam traveled to Lewis and Clark College for Districts.

Kendra Smith set a school record and earned a 3rd place honor in the breast-stroke and the girls 200 yard free-relay also set a school record. Nathan Andres won the only medal, placing 2nd in the breast-stroke.

"It {this season} wasn't any more special, just different," said Mr. Dessen on this season being his last year as coach. "I took notice of things I wouldn't have otherwise." Mr. Dessen has been coach of the swim team for 12 years, and he will be missed greatly next year.

VALENTINES DAY FEBRUARY 14, 1994

LaReina Schaffer and Mike Kyle take time out of their busy schedule to have a "loving" moment recorded forever.

Valentines Day was an experience for Mr. Parrish who received a singing telegram from his wife. Mr. Parrish was not the only one; Mr. Holmstedt also received one from people in Yearbook.

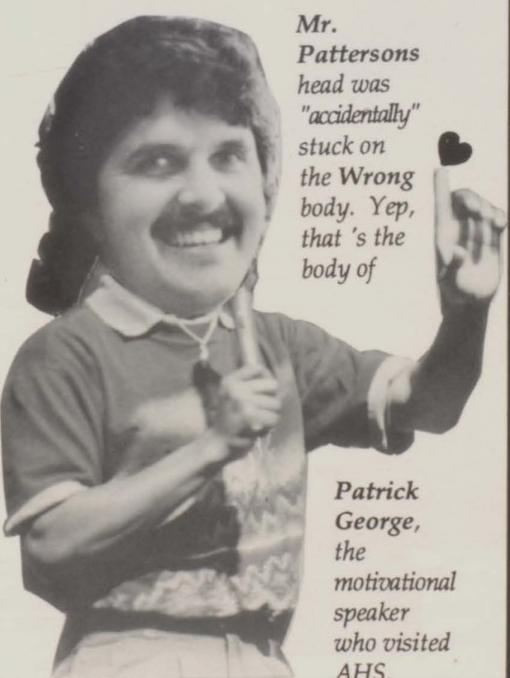

Refusing a kiss, Josh Hemeon turns away from his "funny" valentine, Joanna Nerenburg. Couples decorated the hall on Valentines day, most either dressed in red or dressed in matching outfits.

Couples dotted the halls on Valentines day trying to make each moment special.

Mr. Pattersons head was "accidentally" stuck on the wrong body. Yep, that's the body of Patrick George, the motivational speaker who visited AHS.

Did you send one to your honey?

The French Club was once again selling Valogramms for students to send to their loved ones, or special ones, or happy ones...Selling for .50¢ or 2 for a $1.00, people rushed to fill one out. Senior Mike Kyle spent $5.00 on ten Valogramms. The question is, did they ALL go to his girlfriend, La Reina Schaffer? Besides Valogramms, the French Club also sells Noelagramms. The profits from these fund raisers go to hire a dance teacher and fund different trips and activities.

As the winter term rolls around summer fun comes about for the life skills class. Many of the students, teachers, and peer tutors head out to the swimming facilities at KOA in Warrenton for a great time. As for limitations, there is not a one! The students enjoy everything from keep away, to who makes the biggest splash. But this is not only a time for fun, there is also a lot of learning involved. "Swimming provides an opportunity for the students to practice many important skills," says teacher Jenny Workman.

HARASSMENT

Bringing the problem of unwanted behavior into focus, the entire student body was given a crash course in what it is, what it could be, and what to do about it when it happens. In addition to this, everyone was given a survey to complete in an attempt to get a handle on the magnitude of the problem around this school as well as outside the school. Here are a few of the highlights of the survey.

Have you ever been harassed at school?

Have you ever harassed another person?

"That was awesome of the Astoria High School Spanish to buy our concert tickets!" The English as a second language (ESL) students and their guests really appreciated going with the older students to a Mexican Ballet in Portland on a field trip, Feb. 16. The Astoria Middle School ESL students brainstormed about how they could help teach Spanish to their peers. Their native English speaking friends want to learn Spanish which will help them make new friends and have more job opportunities. Chaperones of the trip were Carol Barth, Spanish teacher, and Jeanie McLaughlin, ESL teacher.

Preaching to the students of AHS about positive action guest speaker Patrick George leaves a lasting impression.

Elementary Performance!

The Astoria High School choir took their annual trip to the Astor School during the month of February. The high school students enjoy entertaining the elementary students by showing off their singing talent. This unique group of individuals express themselves through their music. This yearly treat is not only greatly appreciated by the Astor students, but also by the staff. This is a great experience for both the high school students and elementary students.

Getting into the groove, the Astoria High School choir sings at the top of their lungs to entertain the elementary students of Astor School. The choir was very popular with the younger kids.

SPLASH-TACULAR SEASON

A splash-tacular season and a belly-floppin' good time!

Making up the '94 swimteam was a pool full of returning members and a splash of new comers. Starting up in November, first year member Constantine Phillipakis had a time of 1:24 in the 100 yard back-stroke and in less than a month, thanks to hard work and great coaching, his time was cut to 1:11, allowing him to make the A relay team.

Kendra Smith

also had a great season, breaking a school record once, and then breaking her new record four different times, earning her a 3rd place finish in the 100 yard breast-stroke at the district meet.

This season was an outstanding year for the team, especially Nate Andres, who won 2nd place at Districts in the 100 yard breast-stroke and Nick Wyrwitzke, who won a gold medal at the Rainier Invitational meet.

"It was the best season ever! I feel sorry for next year's swimmers who won't have Mr. D." veteran Bill Miner said. After coaching the team for over a decade, Coach Dessen made 1994 his last swim season. "I've enjoyed working with so many kids that really tried hard and dedicated themselves to this program. I will always have good memories of these athletes and the times we had together."

The team had a splash-tacular season and a belly-floppin' good time and will miss Mr. D very much.

Fox Winner

AHS Student Wins 3rd Place

Jamee Wood, AHS Sophomore, was awarded a third place in the 1994 George Fox College Juried High School Art Exhibit.

The Art Department of the Newberg College called for entries for the show were selected by slides previewed by the juror, Gary Buhler, a well known Oregon painter. Wood, who entered a linoleum block print, was notified on Feb. 7, 1994, of her award from the selected entries. In all, 12 Astoria students were juried into the exhibit. Manny Goza with two entries and one each for Jody Gallino, Laura Dessen, Cathy Scarborough, Bettina Bui, David Almeda, Josh Williams, Jamee Wood, Kendra Smith, Cory Turigliatto, Nate Martin, and Teona Dawson. Student art work was photographed by Scott Holmstedt, AHS Photo Instructor.

The exhibit, which teaches students the steps necessary to enter a professional show, was on view at George Fox College from February 10th until March 9th.

Cashin' in on Good Grades

"And the winning number is ..." called out Mr. Foster to the 195 award winners during the Spring academic award assembly. A Savings bond for fifty dollars, an uncirculated coin set, and litter bags, were up for grabs to one of the super achievers, a token of reward for getting good grades and making the honor roll during the first semester of this year. Seven winners were chosen at random by the impartial secretarial pool of Holloway and Olson to receive the gifts. The winners were, Myriah Garland, Jeremy Snow, Maija Osterholme, Tom Dent, Lisa McMurrick, Tami Patching, Hillary Danner, and Joey Scoggins.

In addition to the great certificates that noted their excellent accomplishments and the prizes that some people received, there were cookies and punch served in the cafeteria following the ceremony. The reception provided students, parents, and teachers a chance to mingle and talk about just how proud each one of them was of their son or daughter.

Ladies put it together to earn consolation trophy

With the exception of a small slip, it was the finishing touches to a memorable season. After losing the opening game of the tournament, the lady Fishermen came back to throttle their last three opponents to bring home the consolation (fifth place) trophy.

For the record, the scores for the tournament were Astoria 45 - Valley Catholic 55, Astoria 71 - Ontario 55, Astoria 58 - Yamhill-Carlton 36, and finally for the title, Astoria 66 - Henley 40.

Senior Meghan Lavis put it all into perspective, "we've always said, 'Together we will' and we did it." Teamwork, caring for each other like family, and hard work were the key pieces for putting together a fun and exciting season. "There's not a kid on that team that doesn't care for everybody else on the team. The friendship and trust for each other has just gotten deeper and deeper" summarized a proud Coach Davis after the tournament.

A roller coaster tourney comes to screeching end

In the opening game of the tournament in Eugene, the heart and soul of Astoria basketball was shining brightly. Down by as many as 12 points, the boys never gave up on their way to staging a stunning 51-45 comeback win over defending state champion, Sweet Home. That effort and the blistering shooting during the runaway win over Henley, (82-65) were the highs that came and went in a whoosh. In those contests, the team looked like they were on a mission to prove they were one of the best teams in the state. "Heartwise, this is the best team that I've ever had the privilege of coaching," commented Coach Goin.

On the down side of things, eventual state champions Junction City took advantage of a weak second quarter to hand out a 57-45 defeat to the Fishermen, and Hood River Valley ousted the boys in the fourth place final 59-46.

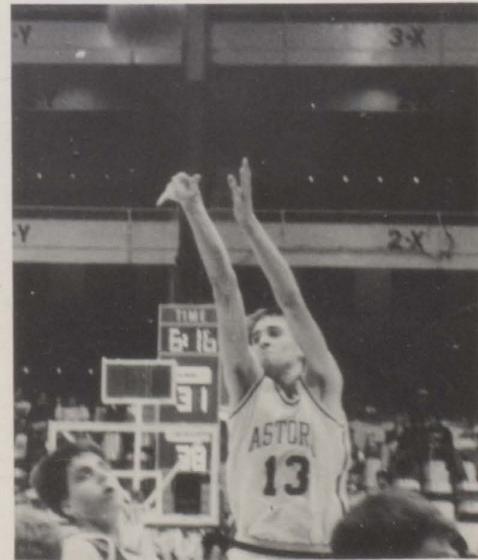

Using his offensive skills, senior Ryan Davis sets up a play in their second tournament game, ending with a 82-65 win over Henley.

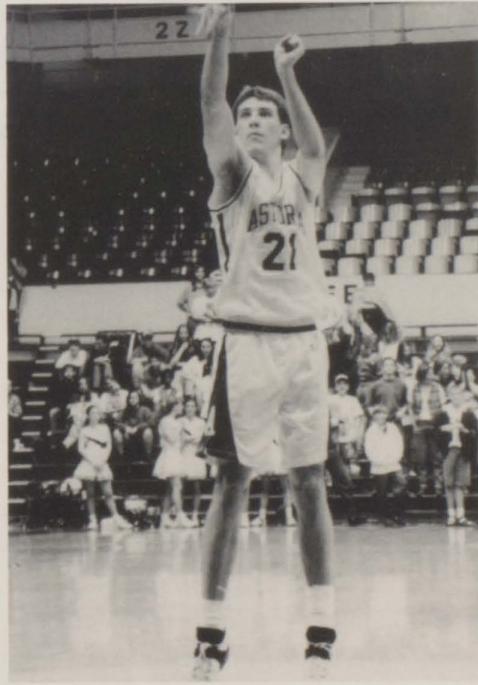

Showing perfect form, senior Jeff Sully attempts not to brick yet another free throw.

Playing his best games of the year during the tournament, senior Adrian Birdeno scores two points to keep them in the game against Junction City.

Senior Lane Hartill puts up a shot, one of many during the tournament, including a slam dunk which greatly inspired the fans.

At the line, senior Tony Erickson sinks two shots in their narrow and surprising win over Sweet Home, 51-45.

Rising over his defender, junior Zach Hiatt gets some air as he scores in their final game against Hood River Valley.

Blood Drive

The Gift of Life

On March 30th, Astoria High School held its annual blood drive. The goal number of 90 pints was surpassed, and many of the donors were first-timers, indicating a healthy future for the Red Cross. All together, there were 110 donors, twelve were deferred due to recent illness or surgery, and 94 pints of blood were donated.

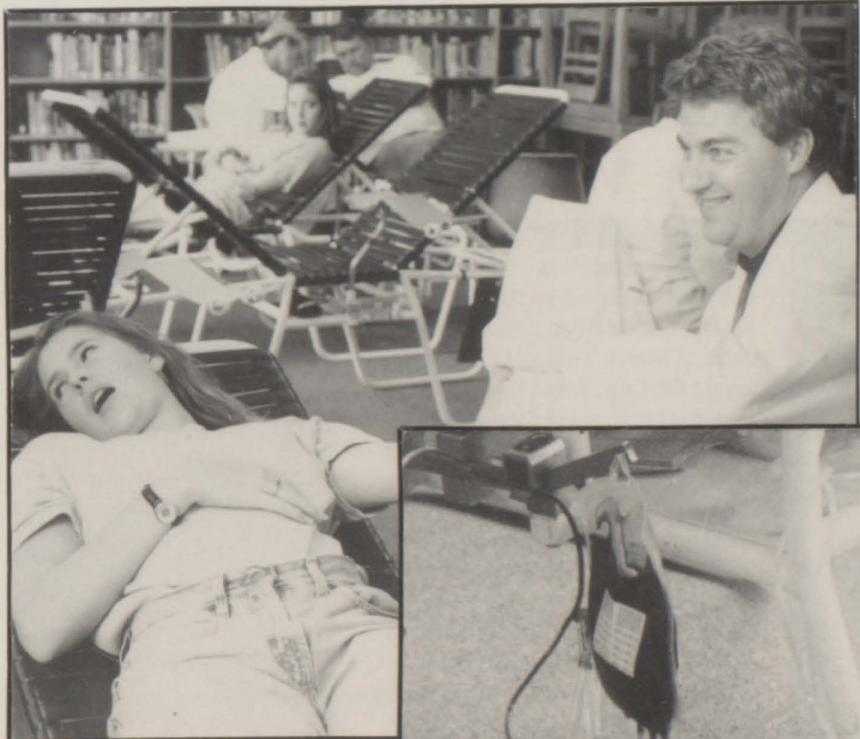

There were 12 volunteers, from those who helped donors register, to people who worked in the canteen, to blood drops. Rieck and Smith donated fruit, McDonalds donated juice, and student council members provided cookies. Andrea Schlieski, co-coordinator of the event, said "Everything went really well, we had more volunteers and food than we needed."

Junior Jeanette Rickenbach smiles when she realizes that giving blood isn't as bad as everyone makes it out to be.

A WEEK OF FUN WITH ALBERT

Thrilling the hearts of all who saw him, The Great Albert dazzled us for five consecutive days. From the dates of March 7 to the 11, Albert taught the Life Skills class such important acts as juggling and the proper way to throw a pie in the face of your friend. Albert also demonstrated rope tricks, fire eating, pantomime, and how to make gigantic bubbles. "The whole week of Albert was fun, especially seeing everyone so happy," said Junior Life Skills assistant Jeri Greenberg who is pictured at right with a pie in her face. "It was lots of fun. My favorite was the pies in the face," said Daisy Anderson who is pictured at the far right making a gigantic bubble.

THE JUNEAU JUMPERS

On March 18, the championship jump roping team, The Juneau Jumpers, came and gave a spectacular performance. The Juneau Jumpers, from Juneau, Alaska range from the fifth grade up to high school age. They came to Astoria and performed in many of the schools for practice before the World Wide competition in May which was held in Greeley, CO. The competition is held by the International Rope Skipping Association (IRSA). The Juneau Jumpers have always placed very high at the World Wide competition. IRSA has sent some of the Juneau Jumpers to Sweden, Russia, Australia, New Zealand, and Germany.

Junior Stephen Person makes a great face as he throws a fast ball during the first game of the season. The Fishermen won this game against Knappa by one point.

Hands-on Helper

Senior Todd Kinder used his imagination and came up with the Fish-O-Thon for his senior project. With help from the Aqua classes and Latin Class, as well as good wishers, Todd was able to put on a wonderful event for kids from around Clatsop County. Special needs students, as well as students from Astoria Middle School participated in this great event as well as many others. Having been served popcorn and drinks, students were able to catch a fish; for some, their very first fish ever. Not only was this a way for Todd to get his senior project done, but it was an experience he will always remember. "It went pretty well," Kinder said afterwards.

Hawaiian Dance

Juniors Misty McGinnis and Rene Umphres show off their Hawaiian "tans" in thier "cool" duds. Grass skirts and bikini tops were not the norm at the dance.

Seniors Kristin Thoreson, Laura Roberts, and Amy Morisse boggie on down doing the two-step Danika Blackwell and Mark Harris dance the night away as Mark teaches Danika some new moves on the dance floor.

Ladies Need A Boost

With high hopes and a shot at the playoffs the Astoria High

Softball team started off in a good position.

But a good start is all it turned out to be for the Lady

Fishermen. With a 4-23 record the ladies experienced many new, and exciting events this season. Coach Dena Marsch set high goals for her squad, but the lack of intensity, and maybe a little bit of inexperience seemed to cause problems, and the goals that seemed to be realistic at the beginning of the season were soon out of reach. The ladies soon began to lose their touch. And as one might realize, losing a total of eight games by only one run didn't help at all, actually it became a little frustrating. "The best game of the season," stated Heidi Rickenbach, "was definitely the double header against Rainier because of our defense, and our two homeruns." Jeanette Rickenbach had to agree, mentioning "I think the roses that the St. Helens coach promised us if we won both games were the cause of it." Making first team all league, second basemen Kristin Thoreson, lead her team in fielding percentage. Also receiving all league selections included Amy Hoffman, and Stacey Williams which were voted second team all league. Kelli Johnston, and Heather Douglas were voted for honorable mention. Even though things didn't turn out as well as desired, this group of girls had a great time," and this season was definitely one I know I will NEVER forget," said Stacey Williams.

The Great Outdoors!

What's the difference between a Vine Maple and a Big Leaf Maple? This question and many more similar to it were answered when BSCS classes set out to conquer "the great outdoors." The students spent most of April and May collecting and pressing their leaves, creating a collage of fine leaf specimens. In order to receive an A grade on their projects, the young Botanists were assigned to fill their books with at least 50 pressed, dried, and identified leaves.

Sorting through her leaves during Honors BSCS, Freshmen Jennifer Cyrek is amazed by her second opportunity to appear in the yearbook....she's back by popular demand!!

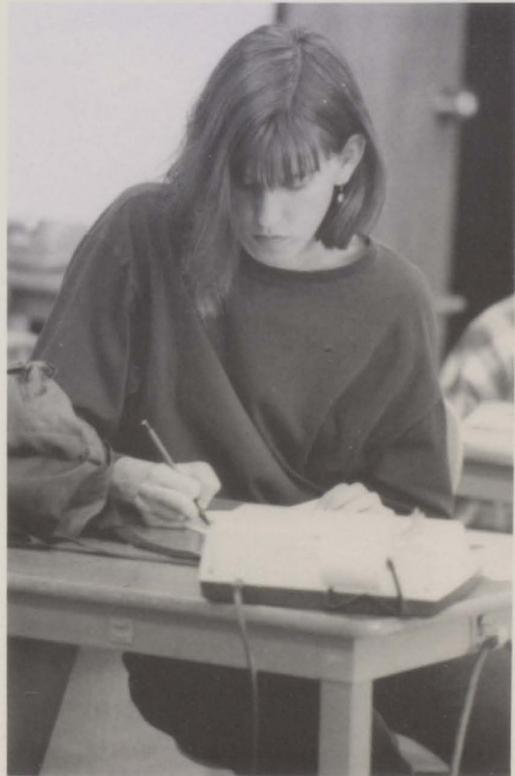

After a trying expedition down the mountain, Seniors Amy Morisse, Denise Miner, and Magnolia Waddell stop to reminisce about their less than perfect skiing forms.

Career Day

With a variety of speakers, ranging from photojournalists to romantic writers, Career Day was a huge success . . . for most that is! Taking advantage of the sunny half day, most Seniors decided to skip out on the occasion and enjoy the beautiful weather.

Chief of Police, Officer Dupre, explains the duties of being a police officer to one of the many classes he spoke to throughout Career Day.

Senior Rachel Wecker works hard at finishing up her Personal Finance assignment before the bell rings. The three different classes are doing a unit on future life management.

A Black Tie Affair

~ PROM 1994 ~

After weeks of planning, the big night finally arrived. On April 23, couples climbed the long staircase to the Elks ballroom, and entered "A Black Tie Affair".

A crowd of nearly 200 danced the night away to music provided by Sound Express of Portland. "It was so fun," said Senior Prom Princess Kristin Thoreson.

Meghan Lavis was crowned Queen of the Prom, by president-elect Curtis Oja, and along with her escort Randy Snow, danced to the theme song of the evening, "Power of Love" by Celine Dion. Other Prom royalty of the evening were junior princesses Jeri Greenberg, Kerry Stevenson, and Beatrice Wood. The senior Prom princesses were Jody Gallino, Amy Morisse, Katrinka Jackson, Maija Osterholme, Carey Knox, Jeanny Potter, Stacey Williams, Kristin Thoreson, and Llama Taylor.

"There was lust in the atmosphere, even the milkman was getting busy," said Senior Jeremy Snow. Not everyone agreed that the dance was that great though. Senior Izaak Van Horn said, "It was kind of lame, but dinner was fun."

The Juniors, for the most of whom Prom 94 was their first, and seniors for whom it was their last, the evening was most likely the classiest event they have ever attended ever attended.

Caught in between some obviously hot gossip, Junior Chris Clifford finds he can only sit back, shut-up, and smile.

Swaying slowly to tunes provided by Sound Express of Portland, couples crowded the dance floor for the last dance of the evening.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The season began with a new look.

In what turned out to be a huge mostly volunteer project, the diamond was completely resurfaced and looking sharp for the start of the year. It took a lot of time by coaches, players, and parents to put together a new drain system, move the field forward, put in a sprinkler system, and to put grass on the infield. The final results made for an excellent field.

OFF TO WASHINGTON D.C.

Punished cruelly and unusually for his Finnish heritage, Mr. Seeborg is at the mercy of his students.

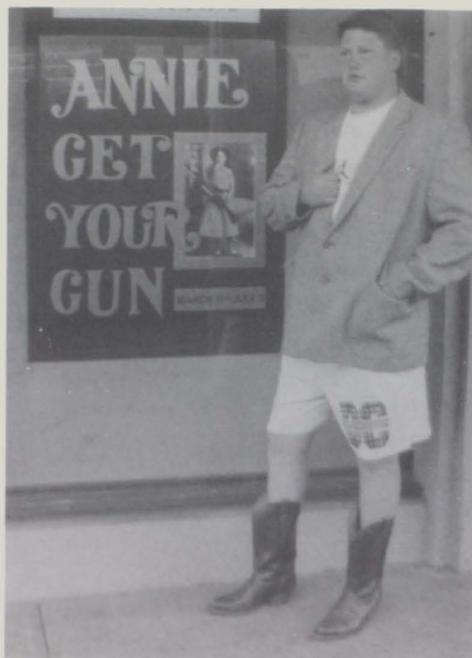

Placing a wreath from all the Astoria Schools on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Nicole Rusinovich gets help from a soldier.

On Sunday May 10, eight Astoria High School students set off for the capitol of our country. On the first day the group visited Arlington National Cemetery and laid a wreath from the Astoria Schools on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. They also visited the Lincoln, Jefferson, and Iwo Jima memorials. Day two held the White House tour and Smithsonian complex. On day three the group visited Harper's Ferry and Gettysburg. They also attended a Baltimore Orioles baseball game. The group had an F.B.I. tour, Capitol Hill tour, and visited Williamsburg on day four. Day five, the last day of the tour, was filled with visits to Colonial Williamsburg, Jamestown, and Busch Gardens. "It was busy days and we saw a lot of things." said Junior Nicole Rusinovich.

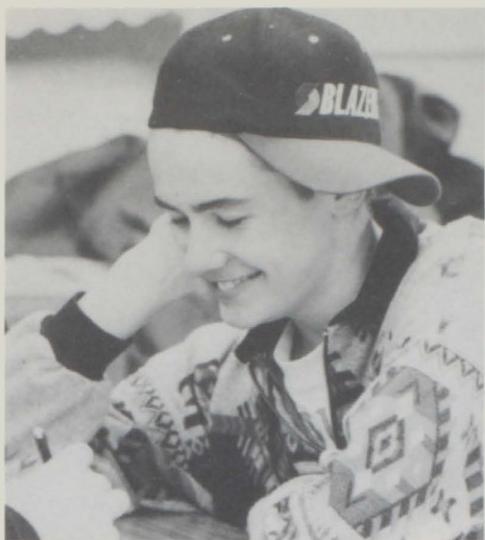

Exiting from Mount Vernon the home of George Washington, the group goes on to visit other exciting homes such as Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson Dressed his best, Steven Johnson poses before entering the play.

The Astoria High School students who attended the trip from L to R were: Nick Ehlers, Stephen Person, Amber Kindred, Andrew Kindred, Steven Johnson, Bill Miner, Nicole Rusinovich and Bobby Service.

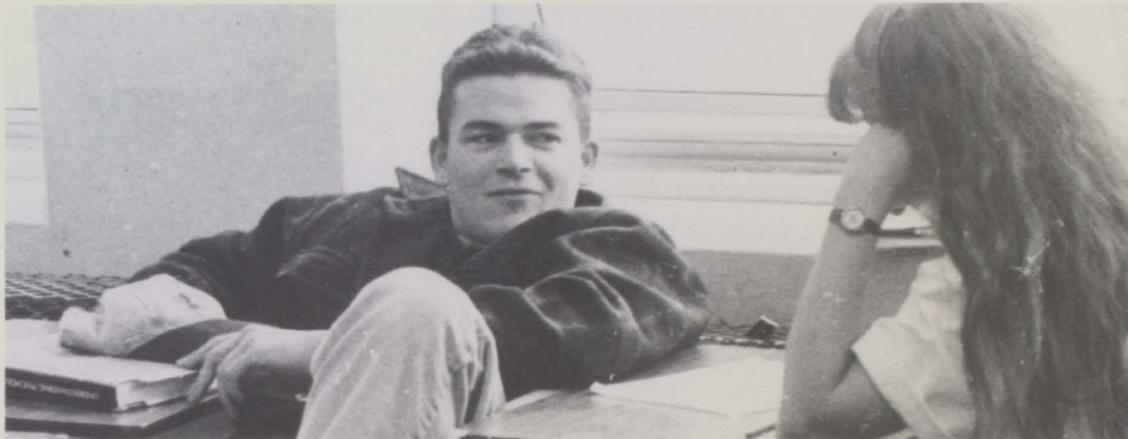

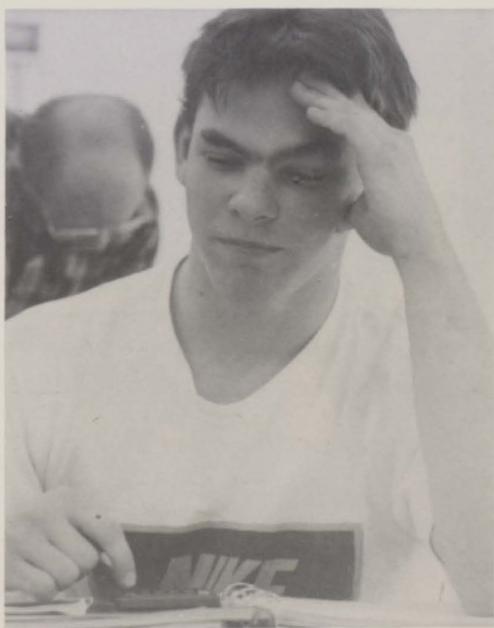

Being as foreign as usual, exchange student Soren Raheek laughs at the English language.

Senior Tom Dent tries not to laugh as he gets all the answers to his Trig problems to come out all right.

ARTS EXPERIENCE

Bringing the visual and performing student artists together for an evening of creativity, the Spring Arts Experience showcased the talents and great imaginations at AHS. Beginning with a concert in the auditorium, the Strings, Concert choir, Port City Singers, Symphonic Band, and Stage Band all played well chosen selections that kept the large numbered audience entertained. Following the concert, individual awards were handed out for outstanding band members.

The cafeteria was the stage for the visual art show where students in photography, drawing, painting, and pottery had their work set up. Laura Dessen and Kendra Smith made a presentation in appreciation for all that she had done for the art department, of a dozen roses to retiring Mrs. Kem.

Demonstrating various dances from different countries, Mrs. Bowlers language students put on several high energy dances that were taught to them by artist in residence, Carol Newman. Their contribution was a great conclusion to an entertaining and fun evening.

After getting off a disappointing throw, junior Heather Hunsaker buries her face in her hands before making a more successful attempt.

Catching some rays, a few boys from the aqua class help out in painting the aqua building.

What does the future look like to the class of 1994?

I'll be living in Palm Springs, nannying for Manny and Misty's baby boy, Georgie Porgie. On weekends I'll take Sara, Melissa, Misty, and Carey out in my jacked up 1976 blue Mustang Sally with orange flames and we will be singing "flower child."

-Gretchen Richardson

I will be with Mr. Absolutely Georgeous making more money than you can dream of. I will be trying to escape Kendra, the "Great Blonde Annoyance". LaReina and I will forever discuss painful point shoes, blisters, and surviving the "nutcracker."

-Kristin Wentworth

Contrary to popular belief, I will not be a nun ten years from now.

I'll be touring Europe with Cindy Shatto on our black motorcycles. I'll be a millionaire from inventing solar powered toaster ovens. Cindy and I will reminisce every night about all our trips to Denny's and Chuck.

-Laura Dessen

Surfing outer reef barriers with 30 foot waves in Hawaii with my dog and some pizza waiting for me on shore is what I'll be doing in 10 years. After a long and fruitful life of surfing I will die. Either that or I will be a lawyer and get really fat.

-Nate Martin

I'll be somewhere in the world practicing law for some multination corporation.

-Jeremy Sivers

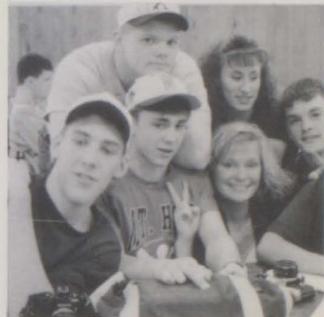

Reina and I will be living in a rural city. We will have a store where Reina will make her delicious chocolate chip cookies and I will make homemade bread in our cafe titled W.E.T.W.O.T.. We will have the finest of imported cappacino makers. We will live long, prser, and always eat our mashed potatoes. -LaReina Shaffer & Dani Clement

I'll be either in Nepal or Budapest teaching drug awareness to the locals, with my wife Michelle Pfeifer. If not that, I will probably be sitting on the same old sofa watching the same re-runs of "I Love Lucy" that I was watching ten years ago. Or, maybe I'll just be a millionaire. Nah, that's just not appealing.

I will be living in Toronto, Canada with my Chia-Pet dog named Sam. I'll be working for the Toronto Bluejays as a bench coach and all 10 fingers will have World Series rings on them. And I'll be the envy of every baseball fan in the world. Don't worry Jody, I believe you when you say you won't have 11 kids!

-Brian Kroczyński

I can't tell you what I will be doing, where I will be, and who I will be with in ten years. If I could tell you what's going to happen in the future, I would be a billionaire.

-Angela Umphres

I will be snowboarding and living in Steamboat Springs. I will be married to "dream-woman" and live happily ever after.

-Jason Bigby

I will be living in some small town along the coast, raising two kids, and running my bed and breakfast. I won't be with anyone because I will be divorced.

-Norma Shaw

Having already gone to Europe in search of rich, older, foreign men, I will be in Australia soaking up the sun with my husband and spending a lot of money on whatever I want.

I will be back in Astoria for our class reunion. All of us Senior girls will be renting a room from the City Center in Seaside again. Hopefully we'll have better luck and won't get evicted and hauled off in police cars. I will cruise through town in my brand new 2004 convertible beamer with Meg, Main, Care, More, and the rest of the gang (we'll be trying to catch every red light so we can do our famous fire drill). Then we'll proceed to drive to Seaside in Amy's "nice big fricking truck." We will play on the teeter-totter like old times and sing "Baby Got Back." Then we'll get back in the truck so Carey can ask guys about red bell peppers and Amy can say "Don't you remember me? Maybe this will remind you." Then we'll go to the reunion and it will be great to see everyone again, how they've changed yet stayed the same. I will miss all of you, see ya then!

-Llama Taylor

I'll probably be living in a mansion raising chickens and mice for a world hunger organization. My car will be supreme and my castle will rise high above the tallest sky skraper. My wife will be more beautiful than an angel in the heavens above. Or I will be a poor hermit living unber the Brookland Bridge.

-Ben Goza

I will be rich, independent, and doing whatever I want! I will still be going to the local fitness center five times a week to stay in shape for my high school reunions, just to show "Grub" that my calves are still bigger than his. While in town I'll drop by Sentry just to say hi to "Milo", the oldest bag boy in the country. After that it's off to "Kate's" house to stay up all night with "Ben & Jerry" in the hot tub discussing our problems in life. Just like old times!

ABOVE: Giving retiring principal, Mr. Parrish, a going away present of a golf ball after leaving the stage, Laura Roberts and Nick Zametkin were among the other 100 or so graduates that did the same. By the time the last senior left, he had enough of them to last for many years to come.

RIGHT: The gym was packed with over 2000 people that had come to watch the class of 1994 wrap up their high school years. This was one of the largest crowds ever attending graduation at AHS.

Before the start of the program, Gretchen Richardson was checking out the order of speakers that came before the receiving of the diplomas.

"What do you mean you think that you look ridiculous in that hat?" asks Mrs. Hawley to a concerned Steve Johnson. The traditional caps and gowns were fashionable, and in Steve's case, two times too big.

Parading down the aisle to their seats on stage, Alivia Tollefson and Aaron Meyers march to the processional music played by the symphonic band.

GRADUATION

Let the celebration begin! After announcing the class was officially done,, silly string filled the air and covered the overjoyed graduates.

Tim Duey and Stacey Williams hug before getting ready to walk "down the aisle." After years together in school, graduation was an emotional night for everyone.

Giving a helping hand, Monica Wirkkala adjusts Vincent Schneider's diploma at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Lacking the creative talents at the end of the day that usually flow through their veins, Mrs. Spaan, Mrs. Kem, and Mr. Holmstedt pull themselves together for a picture.

OFF CENTER

"I miss painting", said a frustrated Carrie Wilson when asked what she thought after attempting to center her clay on the pottery wheel for the first time.

For those that have never tried to get a lump of clay perfectly in the middle of the wheel let me tell you it is an experience that you should not pass up. "I still can't do it," shouted senior Amy Morisse.

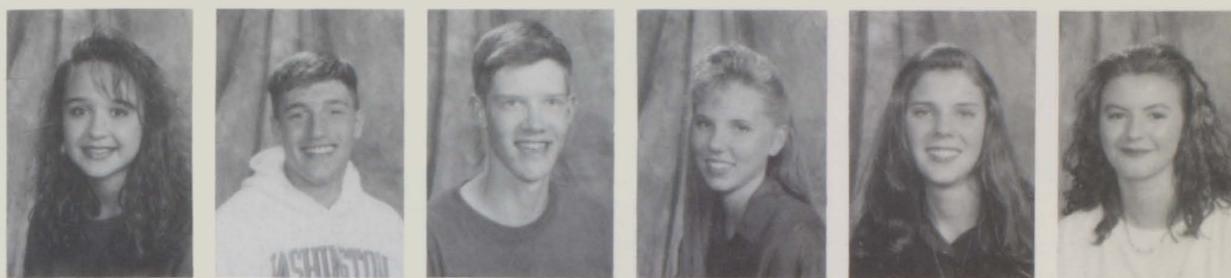

Centering is one of the first steps you learn in pottery class. For most students it proves to be the hardest step of throwing a pot. Llama Taylor and Cindy Shatto both agreed, "If you can master the art of centering you must be He-Man, Master Of The Universe!"

Students in the Honors Biology classes taught by Mr. Fay and Mr. Brenden did some special science this year. They did serious research for the National Marine Fisheries Service. It's part of an environmental impact study which is investigating and analyzing the types and quantities of animals that live in the mud in Trestle Bay at Fort Stevens.

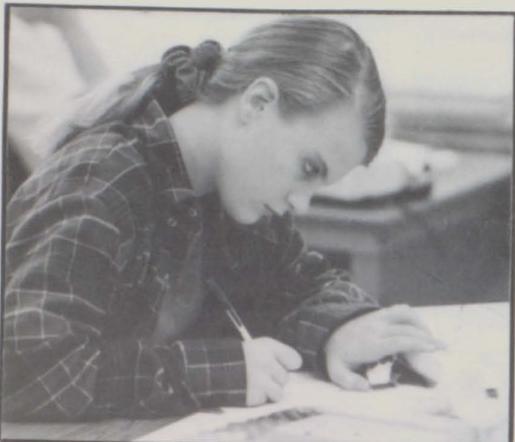

The students spent time working with microscopes separating and classifying tiny little animals for the National Marine Fisheries which will use the data as part of an analysis of distribution. "It's great that the kids can do serious hands-on research." said Mr. Fay.

Mr. Chapman, Mrs. Hale

Poems we can't understand, essays we can't write, and novels we don't want to read. This is what most of us think of English. OK, so sometimes it can be a little boring, but sometimes it's a lot of fun too. For example Mr. Weeks 11th grade English class wrote their own plays and acted them out and Mr. Dessen's fourth period "apes" are making a book of childrens stories.

In addition to the required classes, the Astor Post and yearbook provided an opportunity to show their writing abilities. The skills that were acquired through all the years of learning the right way to structure the language were put to use in publications for all students to enjoy.

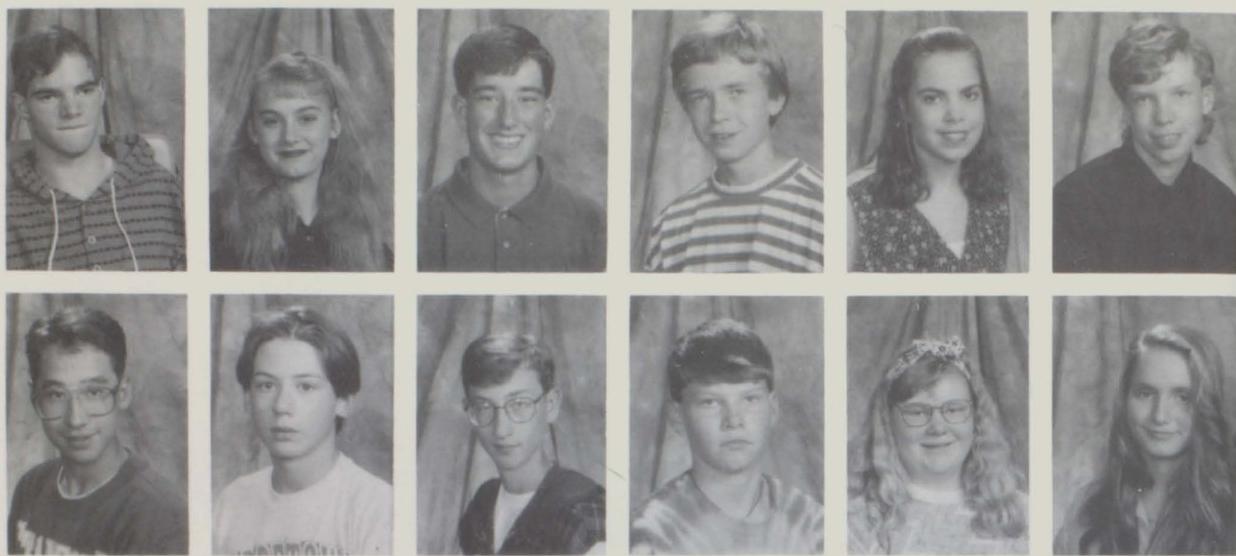

Larry, Moe, and Curly (alias juniors Jeremy Beeler, Taylor Bellingham, and Daniel Ma) show how much fun english can be.

ophomore Eric Jacobsen cracks a smile under the dominant rule of the Spanish flag in Mrs. Barth's room. He was most likely laughing at the small Spanish vocabulary of our photographer.

All-Star librarian Mr. Foster (The Foz) takes me out from his work to get up close with one lucky photographer.

Spanish teacher Mrs. Barth helps to work out some of the quirks in an assignment with an unidentified student.

Senior Jeff Sully kicks back in math class and counts the days until graduation.

A couple of authentic spanish pinatas were displayed on the bookshelf in the Spanish room all year. In this case a bull and a toucan are strutting their stuff.

Senior Gretchen Richardson is caught in concentration as she draws in Ms. Kem's class.

Full of mischief, senior Kristin Thoreson and junior Carrie Holyoak are found goofing off after school.

Half asleep, seniors Nathan Andres, Llama Taylor, and Steve Moore take time out and sit in the hall. Slackers!

Senior Julia Degner glares into the sunlight on the third hottest May on record.

After a little help from Mrs. Moss, senior Cindy Shatto and her cooking group proudly display their cheery pie.

Taking a break from her busy schedule, freshman Rachel Bay stresses about what is still to come.

With painstaking care, freshman Paul Koekemoer checks to make sure he correctly identified the leaves in his leaf collection.

Parrish Retires

After 31 dedicated years in education, Principal Bill Parrish retired. When asked what he felt he had accomplished as principal Parrish replied, "The most important thing I have done as principal is to stabilize the school." In the six years before Parrish's rein as principal the high school had gone through six principals. "I have tried to provide a safe and orderly environment for students," says Parrish. Parrish stated that after his retirement he plans to work on his house, golf a lot, and try consulting in the area of active parenting.

His contributions to AHS both as a teacher and an administrator were a valuable part of making the high school experience a positive one for many students.

Bored with the same old routine, Senior Simon Gretsch slacks off in band class.

Melissa Helligso, modeling off that sometimes distinguished smile, finished off her last two weeks of high school with perfect attendance.

Hey diddle diddle, Tena plays her fiddle.

Running her fingers smoothly over the strings of her cello, Rachel Douglas prepares for one of the grade school performances.

THE END OF THE ROAD

A project as large as putting together a book that highlights the entire school year is not as simple as it may appear. Wading through countless numbers of negatives to find just the right picture for a particular spot, identifying people that you don't know, much less have never even seen, and attempting to be creative with captions, is all a part of trying to piece together this puzzle so that you as a reader can get a clear picture of the year.

With a good amount of stress and effort to meet our deadlines, we have reached the end of the road. In front of you is the final product of our efforts. From all of us, we hope that you enjoy the book and understand that we did the best that we could to help you remember the best parts of the high school experience.
